TAYLOR vs. TAINTOR
83 U.S. 366

In accordance with said stature, when bail is given, the principle is regarded as delivered to the custody of his sureties. Their dominion is a continuance of the original imprisonment. Whenever they choose to do so, they may seize him and deliver him up in their discharge; and if that cannot be done at once, they may imprison him until it can be done. They may exercise their rights in person or by agent. They may pursue him into another state, may arrest him on the Sabbath; and, if necessary, may break and enter his house for that purpose. The seizure is not made by virtue of new process. None is needed. It is likened to the re-arrest by the sheriff of an escaping prisoner.

PENALTIES FOR VIOLATION OF BAIL BOND CONDITIONS

Any person charged with a criminal violation, who has obtained his/her release from custody by having a professional bondsman, surety company, or person other than themselves furnishing him/her a bail bond, and fails to appear in court at the time and place ordered by the court, shall be considered a risk for flight to avoid prosecution from the courts, and shall be considered a risk to uphold obligations to the bondsman, surety company, or person other than themselves who has secured bail on their behalf and shall be considered as putting said bail in jeopardy of forfeiture. Said person in violation of the bail bond agreement shall be re-arrested and returned prejudice to the jurisdiction of the court and be surrendered into the custody of the same. That person or persons who have obtained a bail bond release for the defendant shall be liable for all costs and expenses incurred in securing the defendant back into custody. Furthermore, in addition to any financial charges assessed by the bondsman or surety, the defendant and/or Indemnitor may be criminally liable in addition to the original charges(s) under provisions set forth by the state and federal law (fed 18USC3150/3116c NRS 199.335, 686a.290/291).
